REPORT

OF THE

SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The common schools of this town have for the past year been conducted in circumstances somewhat peculiar. The limitation of the common-school money to the amount required by law, and its different distribution among the districts, are facts too well known to need description. By the provisions of the laws of the State, nearly every dollar of our enforced common-school fund is raised upon the pecuniary valuation of the town, and virtually pledged for the instruction of all the school children, be they few or many. [See General Laws of New Hampshire, chapter 85, sections 1, 3, 4.] We doubt if there has ever been a time in the history of the town when the opportunities for common-school instruction have been so uniform throughout its entire territory as during the past year.

Incidentally, the common schools of the past year have suffered certain misfortunes. The inclemency of the present winter, incurring sudden and temporary suspensions of travel, has in some instances been damaging. In some cases there has been a carelessness in attendance, that appears to indicate a loss of vital interest in the uses implied in the existence of common schools. We are obliged to say that some of our people do not seem to care whether they improve the advantages of the schools or not, though this remark essentially covers cases that are perennial in their occurrence. There are other cases in which some special cause of disaffection leads a person of consistent intentions to seek redress, as he has a right to do ; but in the majority of such cases it is bad policy to remove children from school, since such an act tends to prevent the superintending school committee, when solicited, from reaching the conclusions that may be most just. The law allows the committee, upon occasion, to directly readjust its own work, so to speak, by entering and correcting abuses in school ; but if the school is not in the school-house this power is lost.

The particular history of each term of common school is contained in statistical table No. 1. We have omitted extended descriptive reports, under a conviction of their comparative impotence to fulfill the best and safest ends, unless much more is made of them than has usually been done in the history of the town. A feature of injustice often attends the publishment of such reports. The position of the teacher is often misinterpreted. A new instructor may fail simply through inexperience. Why should this fact be bruited abroad to the future disadvantage of a person committing no fault, but only subject to a common liability ? A person may also fail in one place and succeed in another, and vice versa, and satisfaction in one case will be recognized without the advice of official authority.

Justice, however, seems to require us to explain the meaning of the last column of statistical table No. 1, so far as to say that the judgment expressed represents the result of all the apparent circumstances that make up a term, and not the situation with respect to any single fact.

HIGH SCHOOLS.

Pursuant to the vote of the town at the last annual meeting in March, the superintending school committee, in conjunction with the selectmen, divided the town into two high-school districts on the fifteenth day of May. Subsequently to this act, the committee had no responsibility other than that obtaining in the supervision of common-school districts. It became the duty of the superintending school committee to fix the standard of admission to the high schools and decide what text-books should be there used. These two acts were performed with reference to the general intellectual privileges heretofore afforded by the schools of the town, and the good books already in use. Unfortunately, we cannot state perfect conclusions of the results of the year's work, since we are obliged to make our annual report while the schools are yet in session. We feel confident in saying that our high-school scholars have made a good beginning, taking into consideration the ability of the town to aid them the present year. If it should be the pleasure of the town to continue to support its high schools, we shall look for improved results.

An act of the last legislature of the State empowered the superintending school committee and selectmen to expend one-fifth of the literary fund assigned to any city or town in the purchase of any illustrative apparatus for the use of schools. [See Laws of 1879, chapter 53, section 1.] The amount accruing in this town from such source being very small,—twenty-four dollars and forty-nine cents,—the division of it among the common-school districts would amount to only a mere pittance to each; consequently, a decision was made to divide the amount between the two high-school districts. A Webster's Unabridged Dictionary and a complete students' atlas of the world were therefore placed in each high-school district, at an expense of twenty-two dollars and eighty cents, leaving a balance of one dollar and sixty-nine cents to be returned to the town treasury, since the fund cannot legally accumulate from year to year. We take pleasure in saying that much use has been and is being made of these works of reference by the scholars of our high schools, and there is no intelligent reason to regret their purchase.

Statistical table No. 2 gives the essential particulars of the high schools of the town as they were on Monday, the fourteenth day of the present month of February. We anticipate that the end of the year will show increased particulars of attendance.

IN GENERAL.

For the further information of the town, we offer the following additional statistics:—

	. 1879.	1880.
Whole number of scholars (in town)	. 396	405
Scholars at school during year 315	327
Scholars at school over sixteen years of age	23	49

Respectfully submitted.
